INTRODUCTION

This report contains a summary of visitor use statistics collected at Wyoming State Parks, Historic Sites & Trails (SPHS&T) during the 2022 season (January 1st through December 31st). This report is the ninth year to compare the year round data for all sites. Prior to 2013 we collected year round data at only the following sites: Historic Governors' Mansion, Pioneer Museum, Bear River Travel Center Lobby, Trail End and Fort Phil Kearny Visitor Centers.

The 2022 visitor use report includes the comparison of the five year (2017-2021) average to current annual visitation. It also provides data for years 2020 and 2021. This gives better trend data and normalizes the data over a longer period of time. The five year average is accurate for parks and sites that collected data during May-October.

Wyoming State Parks and Historic Sites' annual visitation numbers for 2022 indicate high visitor use is here to stay with over 5.2 million visitors across all parks and historic sites. In recent years, Wyoming's outdoors have seen unprecedented visitation throughout the state and those high numbers have continued through 2022. 2020 saw over 5.8 million visitors, with 2021 over 5.7 million visitors.

Individually, state parks hosted nearly 4.9 million visitors, 3% above the five-year average, and historic sites hosted over 350,000 visitors, 12% above the five-year average. Wyoming State Parks and Historic Sites' current numbers remain well above pre-pandemic visitation which can be attributed to the retention of many first-time guests during this extreme visitation period.

State parks and historic sites also saw a continued increase in fall visitation during 2022. September visitation was 14% above the five-year average, and October's was 21% above the five-year average.

These numbers provide continued encouragement to Wyoming State Parks and Historic Sites' officials, who attribute the growth to the hard work and dedication of park staff and their efforts to extend and enhance shoulder season visitation.

METHODOLOGY

Data used in the following reports was collected during the 2022 calendar year by traffic counters (TRAFx) or by manual hand counts at visitor centers, museums, and some historic sites. In total, SPHS&T collects visitor use data at 29 parks and historic sites using 69 traffic counters. In 2016, SPSH&T purchased new TRAFx traffic counters to replace 10 year old hardware. The new traffic counters provide accurate and reliable data, which is then analyzed by TRAFx software to produce our visitation data. Vehicles are counted by the interruption of a magnetic field by metal objects. These counters are extremely compact and require no AC, solar power, or inductive loops as the prior counters did. These traffic counters are not susceptible to lighting strikes or rodents chewing wires.

The raw data is retrieved at the end of each collection month by SPHS&T personnel using a portable device called a G3 dock. This unit extracts all data from the monitoring site where it is stored in memory. The G3 Dock is then brought back to a computer and downloaded, then uploaded to the TRAFx server. Using Trafx software, park staff can then analyze the data and view visitation trends. The raw counts are analyzed with statistical factors such as average number of persons per vehicle at different times of year and the estimated number of visitors is calculated. These values come from visitor surveys designed to collect information pertinent to the visitor use program. The values used to calculate the data in this report are from the 2019 Visitor Use Survey.

While the traffic counters are extremely helpful to document visitation, they don't always operate perfectly. Periodically the counters need to be adjusted or calibrated due to erratic counts or no counts at all. This is typically caused by a dead battery or insecure housing but occasionally is counter error. In the case where a counter fails to collect for less than 75% of the month, the Trafx software uses statistical averages from previous years and months to complete the visitation reports.

There were three sites in 2022 with large increases or decreases that should be noted. Independence Rock had calibration issues that were not noticed in prior years; the numbers from 2022 are accurate. Legend Rock had a large increase over the previous year due to what we believe was counter error in 2021. Trail End Historic Site added a pedestrian counter to more accurately capture site usage; the new counter captures visitors walking in and out of the site on a hiking trail.

All documentation, source code and files are available upon request. It is important to note that the data contained in this report is the agency's best estimate of visitation to State Parks and Historic Sites. The estimate is based on sound statistical science and every effort has been made to ensure data accuracy.
